FIFTEEN CENTS

Citizens Oppose Creek Project

Representatives of the United Methodist Church of Antioch and village trustees vied for nearly an hour over the Sequoit Creek enclosure project at Monday's village board meeting.

The project involves the deepening and enlarging of the creek and the continuation of Depot St. across Main to Hillside Ave. This second phase calls for the enclosing (cementing over) of a portion of the creek to the immediate north of the church.

Reasons for the enclosure are flooding in Oakwood Knolls and Depot St. Trustee Mike Haley said, "The basement of Rittenhouse and Embree Lumber became a retention basin for the village last spring."

THE VILLAGE has also been under pressure from the Soo Line railroad for five years to de-water the creek which has prevented culvert inspection.

Plans for the continuation of Depot St. also include the installation of a traffic light at the proposed intersection to ease traffic turning off Orchard Ave. on to Main St.

Opposition from the church was heard primarily on the matter of communication, after it was stated that plans for the project are to the permit-application stage.

"No one came to the church," said Jo Williams, wife of Rev. Stephen Williams. "No one bothered to inform us of what's been done to our property. How far back has this been worked on?"

"This is horrifying," she continued. She earlier warned that she "might lie in the creek when the bulldozers come. This is quite a drastic step and we weren't informed."

AT THE START of the discussion Rev. Williams said that although they were notified about "creek improvement," they assumed that to mean "betterment" and urged the board to "re-examine" the project.

"We have proven that we are ecology-minded," Haley asserted, "by our uptown tree project, the trees in Jensen Park and the mini-park on Main St. But I can't be bound by special interest groups. What do I do with the water? I can't package it and mail it; these are the fifth or sixth plans for this project."

The enclosure itself involves a 102-inch pipe enclosing the creek to the west side of Main to

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Too bad the rain had to come so soon Sunday - we just got down to the Village Parking Lot in time to get soaked. The booths we were able to visit had some really neat items, and the hot dogs and ice cream smothered with nuts were something else. Hope you enjoyed it too!

Well he made it! Pat Ryan's official weigh-in affirmed his weight loss of 100 lbs. since Mar. 17. His rewards, besides looking great, were monetary from fellow workers at Lyons-Ryan Ford-Mercury. Payoff came in all sorts of ways - padlocked money bags filled with 2,500 pennies, a money salad, even a money stuffed mattress (John Udell's, I hear). Congrats Pat! For all of you who are wondering how Pat reached his goal - he ate one cube steak every day and that's it. Hear tell he didn't even have a drink when the baby was born! That's what I call will power.

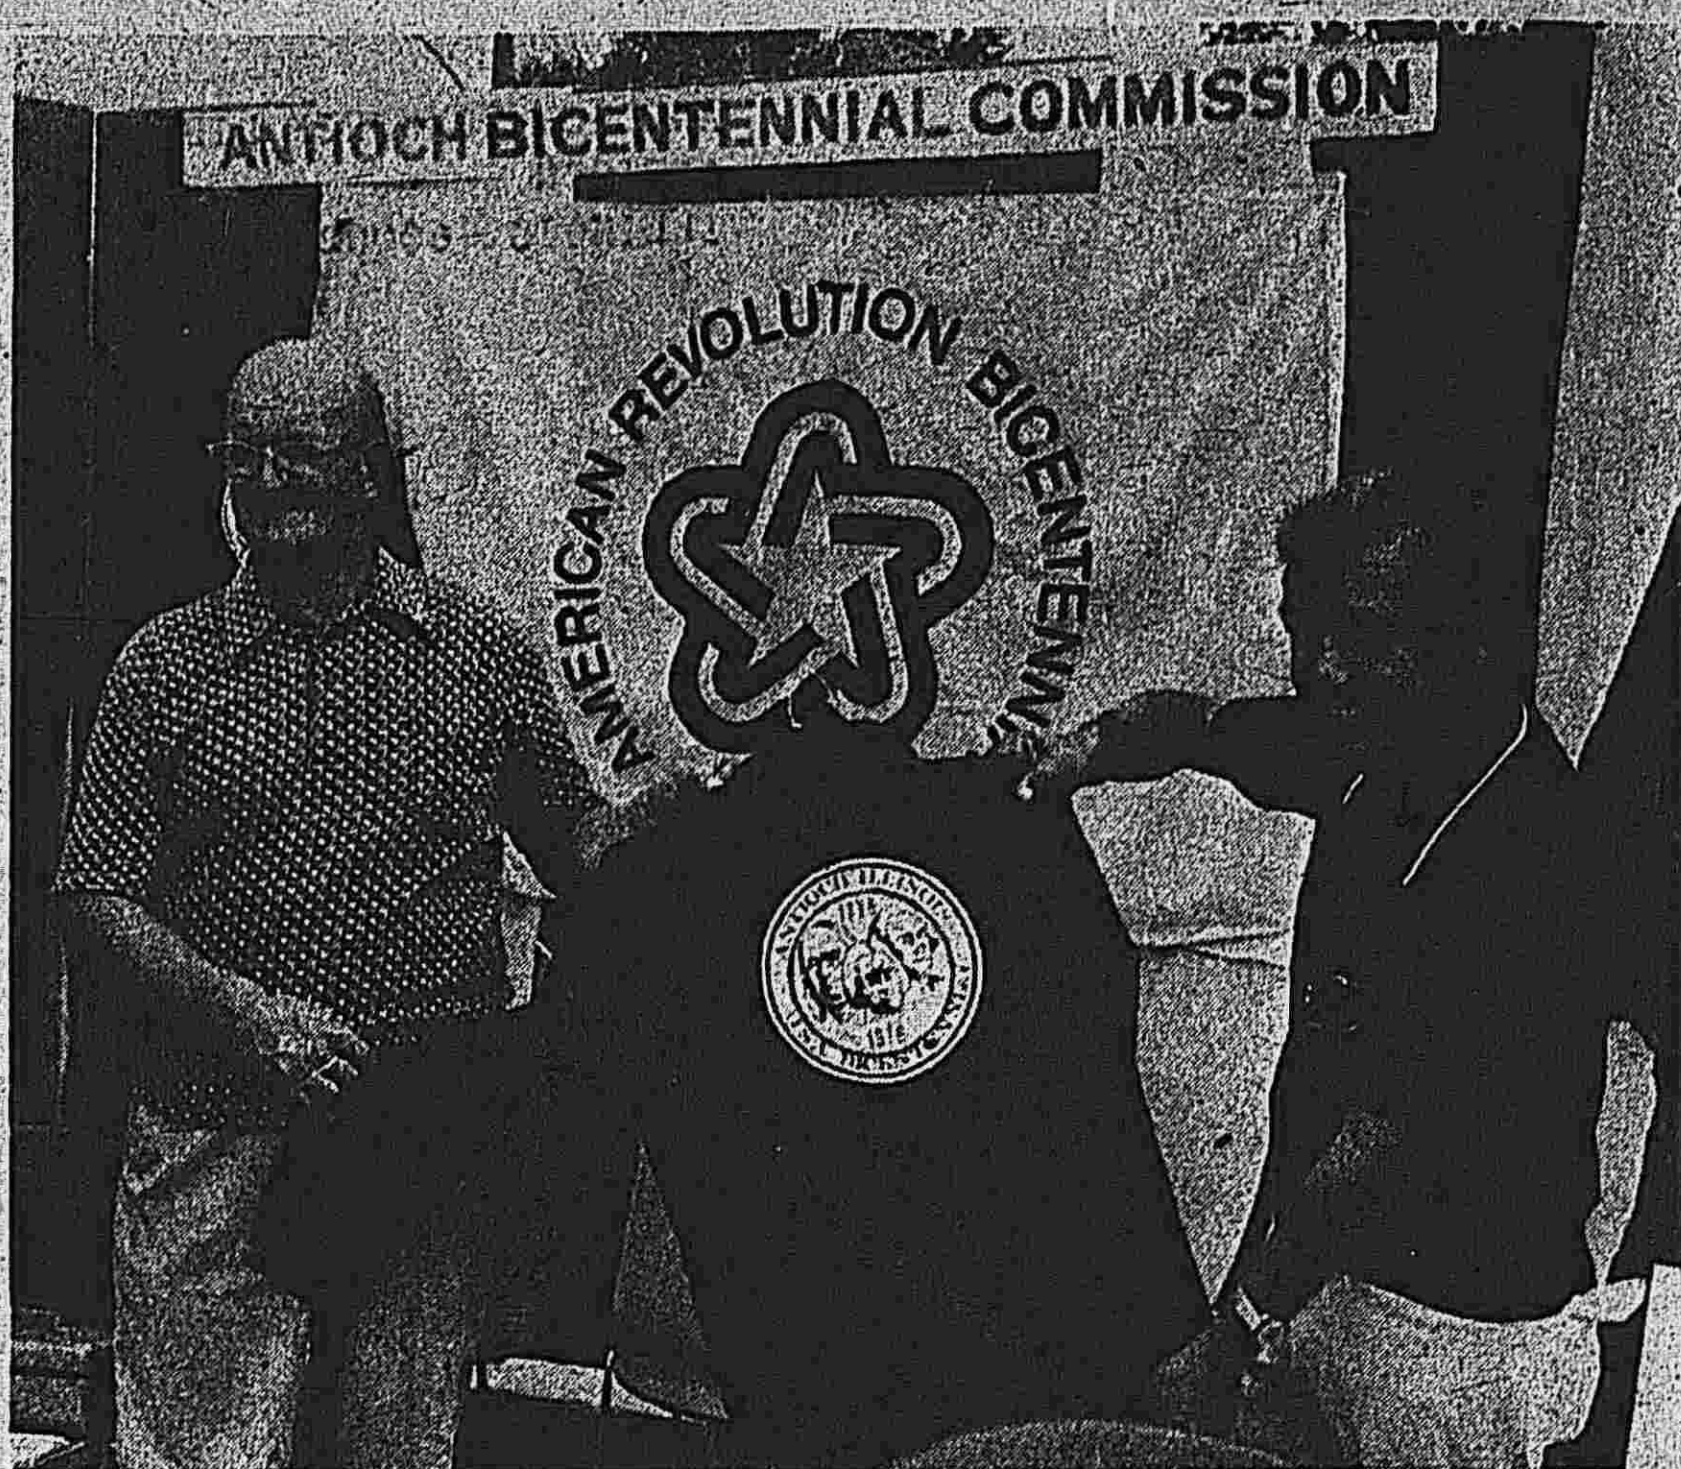

THE RALPH Brooke family just returned from a two week vacation trip to Mississippi and Louisiana where they visited Lee's mom and grandmother.

Looks like the west has beckoned many Antioch families this summer - Dutch and Lucille Kuchenmeister just returned from an extended boating vacation on the Colorado River. The couple's daughter, Wendy, and her husband Jim Smith of Los Angeles joined them for a very exciting and scenic trip.

Rich and Joyce Kufalk and daughters, Heather and Heidi, are just back from a two week trip to Yellowstone Park. They had lots of fun at Jackson Hole, Wyo., riding on the aerial tram, travelling through mountains on horseback, and taking a raft trip on the Snake River. From there they went on to the Badlands taking in the sights at Mt. Rushmore, Custer Park and Crazy Horse.

THIS FRIDAY at the Lakehurst Mall, Phyllis McMillan will take shoppers back 200 years through pages of American History. The 7 p.m. presentation of famous American women is one of the special programs Waukegan has scheduled to celebrate the Bicentennial. Angie Maras, Anne and Kit Kakacek, Darlene Fairchild, Jean and Beth Vojtech, Anne Lorang, Mari and Anne St. Pierre, Phyllis Strezlicki, Jeannie Lindgren and Dawn McBain will be modeling old fashioned dresses.

BICENTENNIAL JACKETS FOR SALE -- Gene Zannini (left) and Gus Cstoff display one of the jackets that carries the official emblem of the Antioch Bicentennial Commission. They were being sold at Sunday's art fair and still are available in all sizes, lined or unlined. Prices range from $9 to $14 and the jackets are available in red, white, royal blue or navy blue.

County Fair Includes Small Animal Zoo

Is it the zoo this year, or the fair?

You can make both if you attend the Lake County Fair at Grayslake to see the 4-H Small Animal Zoo. The zoo will be open all the days of the fair, from Wednesday, July 23, to Sunday, July 27, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The 4-H members inside the pens will pick up the animals so that visiting children can pet them.

Tim VanderMeer of the Millburn Hornets 4-H Club won a trip to speak at the State Fair when he won the Lake County Public Speaking Contest on June 25.

Tim's talk was titled "Bad Day" and was presented in a humorous way. He spoke of the unfortunate events that could happen to a person in a day while he was trying his best to get ahead. The judges said he had excellent stage presentation and his repetitive use of humorous phrases drew the speech together.

Tim is the son of Country Companies Agent Manger, Jerry VanderMeer.

Woes of the Presidential Candidates

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

BARRY GOLDWATER

No matter who the candidates turn out to be, the United States is getting set for another ridiculously long and boring presidential campaign. The liberals who pushed through the campaign reform bill might have considered more seriously the problem of campaign longevity.

The shouting usually starts right after New Year's Day and doesn't end until the votes are cast in November. Candidates who wade successfully through the primaries have barely time to catch their breath until the general-election campaigning gets underway.

THE PRESENT system is wasteful and time consuming.

For example, some of the best brains in America expend themselves on presidential campaign strategy while they might better be applied to problems affecting the entire nation.

I know. I went through this ordeal in 1964. I announced my campaign for the Presidency on Jan. 3 at my home in Phoenix.

After the announcement I quickly packed by bags and got to Washington in time to go on Meet the Press that Sunday. Monday morning, I left for New Hampshire, the first primary where the local Republican leaders had mapped out an official itinerary.

This itinerary sometimes began with a press conference at 8 o'clock in the morning, included 18 stops for coffee klatches and meetings in schools and factories - anywhere in the state where more than two or three persons got together. This schedule, with some breaks for Senate voting and comparable problems, went on until March. After the New Hampshire primary was over, we left immediately for the West Coast where the Oregon and California primaries were next.

IT WAS decided not to make a big thing of the Oregon contest, since it seemed to be fairly well locked up for then New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. We therefore went on to California where again our itinerary was a product of local leaders, some of whom I am convinced thought the candidate was made of iron.

In all events we campaigned up and down that huge state all spring and part of the summer.

And when the California primary ended, the Republican National Convention was getting ready to convene in San Francisco.

A national convention is no place to find rest, especially for one of the major candidates. Riding back to Phoenix from San Francisco after being nominated, I remember deciding that the whole prospect of a general election campaign against the Democratic candidate was something I couldn't even bear to think about.

Campaign managers are quick to say that the final campaign won't begin until after Labor Day, but once you become the presidential nominee of a major political party you automatically become the most sought after person of every newspaper, radio and TV station in the country.

I'M SURE that other candidates have felt - as I did at the time - the urge to tell the media to go take a jump. But that is certainly not the time to earn any enemies from a political standpoint.

So you grit your teeth and fight it through the hope that your voice holds out better than Wendell Willkie's did in 1940.

The Town Crier

We think it's regrettable when members of the Antioch business community fail to cooperate with one another.

Therefore, we were disappointed Sunday when the Ben Franklin store wouldn't allow us to go on its roof to take an aerial photograph of the impressive Chamber of Commerce Art Fair, which sprawled colorfully below in the parking lot adjacent to the store.

We think the owners of the store would have said "okay," and a very nice young lady employee thought so, too. But when she phoned whoever was in charge that day, we received a cold "no" to our request.

Very uncooperative.

Well, okay, we can be bureaucratic, too. Henceforth, we will not permit employees of that store to sunbathe on our roof during their lunch hours. Nor will we allow them to take their lawn chairs up there for a splendid view of Antioch's Homecoming parade as it marches down Main Street. And they also cannot use our roof for their annual kite-flying contest on Ben Franklin's birthday.

LAKE VILLA's fireworks on the Fourth of July were a super show. The community deserves a lot of credit for staging such a crowd-pleasing event. And it attracted many Antioch residents to Lehmann Park on Cedar Lake.

WE MENTIONED it among ourselves here at the newspaper, but we neglected to mention it to our readers.

The Antioch News began its 90th year with last week's issue. It was Volume 90, No. 1 for the local newspaper that was first published in 1886.

Today's issue is Volume 90, No. 2.

I guess it's partly up to us, and partly up to the community, whether or not the Antioch News will be around to celebrate its 100th birthday in July of 1986. Sure hope we're all here to see that day.

MOST INTERESTING quote we read this week came from the column of Owen Phelps, associate publisher of five weekly newspapers in the Rockford area.

"After five years in farm country," said Owen, "it's painfully clear to me just how much this nation really depends on its farmers ... and just how little urban people realize that."

ANOTHER INTERESTING quote ... this one from Congressman Robert McClory: "Calling for mandatory sentences where crimes of violence are committed, the President has responded to a public

Sorry, But I'm Not Related To the Old 'Sew and Sew'

BY BETSY ROSSEN

Words fail to adequately express how those of us with hysterical - er, historical - names feel during these bicentennial days. But allow me the liberty of trying.

Those who have met me (and/or those who know I have a name other than Polly Purdue) realize that my name is Betsy Ross-en. But when introduced the "en" is usually lost in the shuffle. A barrage of "original" remarks begins as people try to needle me about it.

Basic response: "Are you any relation to that lady who made the flag? But I bet everybody says that."

Wrong. I once met a culturally deprived three-year-old who had never heard of the old sew and sew.

I COULD DO little but cringe through my elementary and high school education whenever I was introduced. But when I got to college I realized the asset it could be to have such an ice-breaker: really helps folks pick up the thread of the conversation. And it is extremely easy to remember.

Some of the wittier remarks have supplied much material for comebacks. A terrific history prof once handed back a test designated for "Miss Flagen". Really kept the class in stitches.

I've been anticipating this bicentennial year with some reserve. Now don't misunderstand: I'm probably one of the most patriotic individuals I know, even though I have only one Johnny Mann record. However, I know what's in store as everyone gears up for '76.

But maybe someone will come up with a line I've yet to hear. If you see me in town, flag me down and we'll talk about it.

People 'Mum' About Santino Development

By BETSY ROSSEN

"Do you think the village of Antioch should work toward the annexation of the housing development planned by Thomas F. Santino at the Antioch Country Club?"

That was the question I asked village shoppers Saturday. But most who hold opinions on this hot issue feel they are not at liberty to talk about it. A hot issue, to be sure.

But perhaps more upsetting is the number of area residents who had no opinion: they did not know what I was talking about. Certainly they should be concerned, for a housing development of the size and probable impact as the one under consideration not only deserves, but demands, the attention of every area resident.

SANTINO IS talking about adding about 2,500 residents to the area. The effect on schools, sanitation, police, fire, shopping traffic nearly all aspects of village life would be considerable.

Is the problem lack of information? The Antioch News has devoted much space and attention to the annexation question, including a news analysis on June 18.

Vernon Burdick of Garys Drive believes "the town can't handle that large a project. The town itself isn't large enough."

But one young man who asked to remain anonymous, feels it is

Oppose Budget Cuts

The Child Care Association of Illinois has asked Gov. Walker and members of the General Assembly not to carry out a proposed six percent, across-the-board budget cut.

Mirl Whitaker, director of the association, gave his views to members of the board of trustees and staff of the Allendale School for Boys in Lake Villa.

Allendale is a member of the CCA of Illinois.

"It is unsound fiscal management," he said, "and it doesn't take into consideration the fact that each human service program financed by the taxpayers has a different set of priorities. Also, delayed or neglected services frequently cause greater expenditures rather than savings."

Whitaker called on the General Assembly to evaluate each program on its own merit. "In some instances, increases are even warranted," he said.

Walter Cherry, president of the Allendale Association, said:

"Children needing protection may pay with their lives if, for example, they are continually abused by their parents and denied the services of a professional social worker. And at the same time youngsters needing to be placed in foster homes or to be adopted will not be served. In addition, families requiring day care and home-makers services will be short changed."

Mildred Planca

a good idea to "bring in more land, bring in more territory. In the long run it would lower taxes."

"Leave Antioch a resort town," says Charles Bobich. "When we turn it all into apartments, what's left?"

MILDREN PIANCA of Petite Lake is concerned about the facilities and services offered. "The difficulty is in the care," she says. "The development has guaranteed nothing. Who would take care of the property?" Overcrowded conditions are a worry, too, she adds.

So there are area residents who are deeply concerned about the future of Antioch. How about you?

BRINGS YOU

JULY 14-20, 1975

A wild sky, things will fly.

Sow turnips for fall now... "Wrong Way" Corrigan made his famous flight July 18, 1938... First quarter of the moon July 15... WW I Draft began July 20, 1917... Average length of days for the week, 14 hours, 58 minutes... Jack the Ripper slew his 8th victim July 16, 1889... First U.S. paper money was used this week in 1861... If you have too many irons in the fire, some will cool.

Ask the Old Farmer: I can still hear my mother saying under her breath, when exasperated — "Hoss Feth-ahs!" Do you know the origin of this saying? J. G. Hillsboro, Kansas.

It was dreamed up by the cartoonist who drew Barney Google, who figured there was no such thing. As a matter of fact, a horse does have feathers — on his nose, below or between the nostrils. Look at one and see for yourself.

Home Hint: Shellac will be difficult to apply and remain sticky unless it has been mixed with denatured alcohol before being used... Riddle answer: The part that's not eaten.

2 Chicago Men Arrested Here

Two young Chicago area men were arrested in Antioch Saturday on charges of vehicle theft, fictitious license plates and criminal trespass.

Police were called to the Oakwood Knolls beach at approximately 8:15 p.m. to investigate reports that two Chicagoans in a pick-up truck were passing out drugs to younger children.

Officers Richard Good and Fred Rakoncaj questioned driver James Dillon, 19, of Evanston and Donnie Beavers, 20, of Chicago who said they were visiting in the area.

Looking into the vehicle, Good saw two Missouri license plates. The Kansas City police later confirmed that they were registered to a vehicle stolen July 1.

Dillon, arrested for possible motor vehicle theft and use of fictitious plates, was transported to the county jail. Beavers, was charged with criminal trespass to a motor vehicle and released on bond.

At 9:30 p.m. the family which Dillon and Beavers claimed to be visiting called and said that their 17-year-old daughter had taken an overdose of pills given to her by Beavers.

Though they searched the truck and the subjects, the officers did not find any drugs.

Wrestler Shaffer Illinois Freestyle Champ

Antioch's Scott Shaffer won the Illinois Wrestling Federation 123 lb. state freestyle title Saturday at Elgin High School.

Scott pinned 6 out of 7 opponents including a 1:36 second fall in the finals over Walter Futtrell of Bloom High School.

The Illinois Wrestling Federation sponsors competition in the international styles of wrestling during the spring and summer months. This year over 40 tournaments were held, with over 3,000 wrestlers involved.

The state championship is the culmination of state competition and qualifies wrestlers for the United States Wrestling Federation junior national championships to be held at the University of Iowa July 24 and 25.

Shaffer now joins the top 30 wrestlers in Illinois as they compete for national honors.

This fall Shaffer will enroll at Western Illinois University on an athletic scholarship.

Antioch Swimmers Pull Upset

Last week the Antioch swimmers, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, won an upset victory over the host team, the Tennaqua Swim Club. Their opponents, considered a powerhouse, took second in last year's conference standings.

The meet was a nail-biter throughout. Antioch's medley team won easily, but Tennaqua was strong in both freestyle and diving events. Competition was stiff in IM's and backstroke events.

Antioch was behind at the start of the breaststroke events, but came to life, scoring firsts and seconds in almost all remaining events. They caught up to their hosts and finished with a win in the final relay to beat Tennaqua, 220-213.

Coach Marty Berry reports it was a tremendous team effort and an excellent show of good sportsmanship. Special recognition was earned by Theodore Bessette who "swam up" an age group because of a teammate's illness.

Beth Mueller put on a "do or die" finish to touch out Tennaqua's swimmers in the 25-meter butterfly, backing up Jeannie Cilik's win. Sue Berry, Margaret Bessette, Ed Fink and Craig White came through with fine performances, says their coach.

Mary Ann Cilik, an Antioch freestyler who missed her "flip" turn and had to go back and touch the wall, put on a great finish to take first place nonetheless.

50-Lap Race At Waukegan Won by Jones

Tom Jones won his fourth straight feature at Waukegan Speedway Sunday night, breaking a six-year-old record for 50 laps.

The Northbrook driver squeezed past Ray Young in the 31st lap and breezed to the win in the Carling championship race. Jones set a new record at 12 minutes, 40 seconds quicker than the old mark held by Bob Roper.

Young held on for second money in front of Roper who was closing fast at the finish.

Despite a heavy storm during the afternoon, the track was dried and the races run without delay. Young chalked up fast time with a 14-second lap.

Tom Coleman of Great Lakes won the wild 12-lap hobby feature which saw several cars climb the walls.

The next big event at Waukegan will be the midseason championship for late model stock cars on Saturday night, July 19. That card will see the first 300 youngsters through the main gate receive checkered flags from Jackson Auto Sales of Waukegan.

Lew Olandese, Fox Lake, scored his first 100 straight Sunday at Northbrook to win Class A honors.

In a father and son act, Wallace Manz and son Robert divided first and second place in Class B Saturday at the trap club on Pistakee Bay. Wallace smashed 98 clay pigeons while Robert ran his first 100 straight. They also won two handicap trophies, two doubles events and the high overall award.

COLBURN WINS BIG RACE

Cars Collide
At Wilmot

Dick Colburn won his fourth major race of the 1975 season last Saturday night before a holiday crowd of 4,100 at the third-mile speedway in Wilmot.

Colburn thus tightened his grip on first place in the IRA (Interstate Racing Assn.) point standings for super modified cars.

Colburn, of Muskego, Wis., started back in the sixth row in the holiday 50-lap feature and methodically worked toward the front of the pack. He got a break in the 24th lap when the sprint-type car of Bill Repsold of Spring Grove spun and forced a yellow caution flag. The cars were doubled up and regrouped and when the green flag dropped to resume the race, Colburn was able to pick off the front runners one by one and then close in on the leader, Roger Schmitz of Milwaukee.

Schmitz, who won the main event the week before, held Colburn off for six laps, but then his car caught a rut in the turn and faltered momentarily. Colburn seized the opportunity and ducked inside to take the lead and pull away in the closing laps.

In the semi-feature, Bill Klein of Burlington, Wis., tangled with Darrell Dodd of Waukegan, and both cars careened into the pits as mechanics and drivers scrambled out of the way. But Klein was back in time for the restart and went on to win the event.

The 15-lap race was marred by a raft of pileups and spins, the worst of them involving the popular No. 60 of Pop Kline of Genoa City, Wis., and the car of Ken Tingwald of Milwaukee. Kline's car spun coming onto the front straightaway and was clobbered by Tingwald's car, which rolled the little red roadster onto its side and then climbed over it.

The entire front end of Kline's car was torn off, but the lucky veteran scrambled from under his car and waved gamely to the cheering crowd.

Then a five-car pileup in the second turn once again delayed the race while wreckers pulled the cars apart.

The IRA will stage a special race program Friday night on the track at Hales Corners, Wis., and then return to Wilmot on Saturday.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

The Antioch Girls Softball League have scheduled a season-end party Monday, July 21, at the Aqua Center. Plans call for 6 p.m. team picnics and swimming to follow at 8 p.m.

Current standings:
PRE-TEENS Gossman 1-7.

(Walsh's) 8-0, Lipski 4-3, Gallagher (Wilton's) 4-4, Matthews (Fire Dept.) 4-4, Blanchette 3-5, Byrne 0-7.

TEEN - Kessler-Parker (First National Bank) 6-1, Murphy (Quaker) 5-2, Stickler (State Bank) 3-5, Geist (Advertiser)

The performer's waiting room in theaters is traditionally called the "Green Room" because it is painted a soft green to relieve eyes after the harsh glare of stage lights.

TOM HOMAN OF ANTIOCH carried the checkered flag following a win in one of the All-American late model sportsman Battle of the Speedways races at Lake Geneva Raceway. This Sunday night type of racing is gaining support each week. More than 60 cars represent several speedways in the area. Homan is a regular at Kenosha County Speedway in Wilmot and has a chance to test his car against Waukegan, Rockford, Jefferson, Hales Corners and Lake Geneva cars and drivers.

Drivers Hot, Tempers Too At Lake Geneva

The late model stock car 30-lap feature race at Lake Geneva Raceway last Saturday ended with Beloit drivers in three of the top four positions.

Red Hutchinson, Beloit scored his first win of the season after holding off Dave Watson, Beloit, for the final six laps. Gary Hemerling, Beloit, finished fourth. Point leader, Al Schill, Franklin, was third.

Gary Kreiger, Ft. Atkinson, won the semi-feature.

In sportsman stock car racing the action was highlighted by a roll over by Dan Gergerauch, Delavan. His car tangled with another but neither driver was injured. Feature race winner Don Patterson, Silver Lake, scored in a heat race. Point leader Roger Meyer, Lake Mills, set fast time and won a heat but was only fourth in the feature event.

Racing and tempers were hot in the semi-features. One driver thought the starter should have stopped the race when his car spun and, after restarting, pointed his car in the direction of the starter. This caused a delay in which the driver's wife also had to be removed from the track. When the race was resumed with the disqualified driver in the pits, the winner was Bob Koehn, Burlington.

LAST THURSDAY'S rained out 50-lap feature for late models was postponed to this Thursday night.

Another "Battle of the Speedways" program is scheduled Sunday night.

Jack Ester of Antioch was third in late model qualifying last Saturday.

900 Pancake
Breakfasts
Are Served

Antioch's Minor, Little and Babe Ruth leagues held their annual pancake breakfast last Saturday and attracted more than 900 persons.

Managers, coaches and moms and dads of the Little Leaguers served the breakfasts.

Chairman Bernie Gutowski and his wife, Shirley, said "We would like to extend our thanks to all those who helped make this annual event a success. Special thanks go to the following who donated the door prizes."

First prize: A $25 savings account donated by the State Bank of Antioch and won by W. J. Gerhardt of Lindenhurst.

Second prize: A $10 gift certificate from Wilton Electric, won by Shirley Morris of Antioch.

Third prize: A stadium blanket from the First National Bank, won by Helen Sterbenz of Antioch.

Fourth prize: A scented lamp, also from the First National Bank, won by S. Bernet of Antioch.

Proceeds from the breakfast will help buy equipment for Antioch's youth baseball program.

Bait Shop's
Front Door
Damaged

Sorenson's Bait Shop, routes 59 and 173, was vandalized last weekend.

Owner Edward Sorenson called the police station early Sunday morning to report a possible attempt to enter his place of business. Officer George Gialds was sent to the scene where Sorenson showed him the front door. The screen had been damaged and a 24 by 24-inch window broken out.

According to Gialds the incident apparently was an act of vandalism and not an attempt to enter the shop.

JONES RECORDED a clean sweep Saturday night when he raced into the late model point lead at Waukegan Speedway.

Bob Dotter dropped out of the lead following a 7th place finish in the feature.

Ted Richter won the 12-lap semi-feature and then led the first 16-laps of the feature before Jones overhauled him and made a spectacular pass for the lead as the cars raced three abreast out of the fourth turn.

Antioch and its Neighbors Enjoy Chamber's Art Fair

Winners Selected

Donovan, Barb Christensen and Georgene Twardy displayed arts and crafts.

The $150 "best of show" prize in Sunday's Arts, Crafts and Antique Fair was won by a Park Forest man, Philip Mundt.

Ellen McDowell of Antioch placed first in the arts division to win a $75 prize.

Winners were announced by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the third annual fair. All of the booths were set up in the parking lot near the water tower.

Exhibitors came from nearby cities and adjacent states. A large crowd attended the fair, which began at 9 a.m. but was shortened by an early-afternoon rain.

Winners of the $75 first prize in the crafts division were Lynn and Sandi Obertin of Kenosha.

Stuart Slavik of Lake Villa was runnerup in arts, winning $50, and J. M. Bojarzuk of Fox River Grove was third, winning $25.

Kathy Ferrigan of Ingleside was second in crafts, earning $50, and Joseph Hindley of Kenosha was third, receiving $25.

Ground Breaking

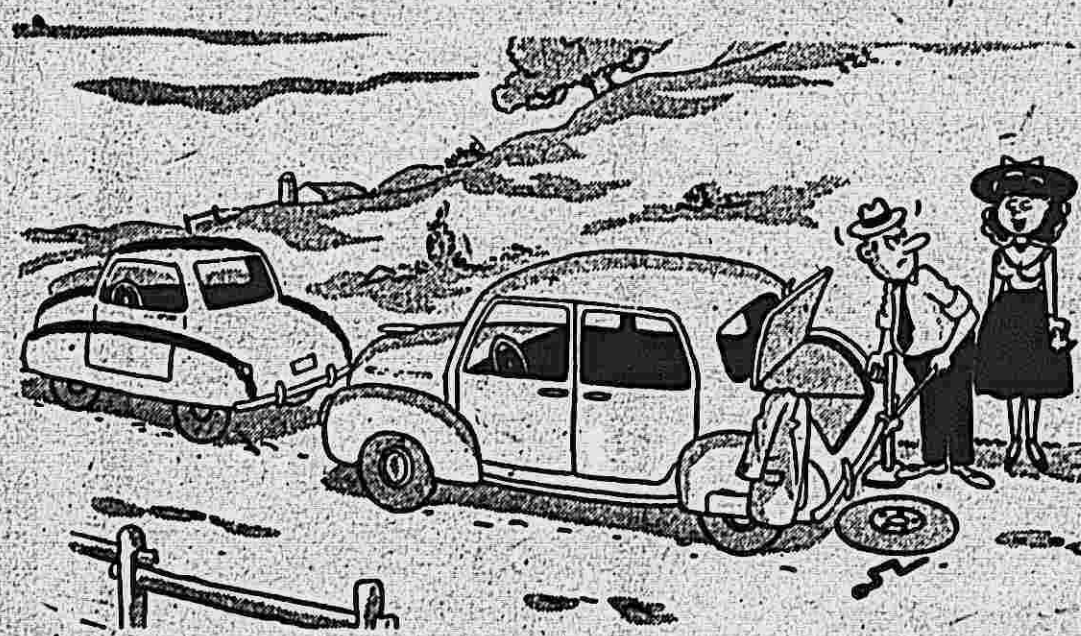

Official ground breaking ceremonies will be held Friday for the Lake County Area Vocational Center.

The event begins at 10 a.m. near the northwest corner of the College of Lake County parking lot.

Clifton Houghton of Antioch, chairman of the board of control, will be master of ceremonies.

HELPING TO MAKE the third annual Chamber of Commerce Art Fair a success were (from left) Laura Offedahl, Chris Pionke and Elaine Offedahl. Elaine was chairman of the event. The fair attracted many exhibitors and a large crowd to Antioch, and was blessed by beautiful weather until an afternoon rain cut the program a little short.

"Let it down easy—my husband is asleep in the back seat."

Wilmot Races Reset for This Thursday

WILMOT, WIS. — Last Thursday's stock car races at the fairgrounds here were rained out, so the show was rescheduled for this Thursday.

The original rain date was last Friday but most of the drivers said they were scheduled that night to perform in northern Wisconsin.

Ron Holtdorf, head of the HETZ race promotions, said he hopes both fans and drivers will understand and return this Thursday.

The program, with time trials at 6:30 p.m. and races at 7:30, will be over by 10 p.m. There will be a 35-lap feature event for late models, a powder puff race and a special match between three Wilmot drivers and three from Hales Corners, Wis.

There also will be a demolition derby, along with sky diving by the Sky Hawks of Bristol, Wis.

Holtdorf said if this Thursday's show goes over good, his group will run every Thursday in July with late model and hobby car races.

ABC's of Travel

By BARB CORBIN

Trip tips for the businessmen! There can be hidden high costs of doing business abroad; exhaustion, inefficient use of time, to mention a few.

Following are a few basic tips which I hope will be of some help:

Although a large proportion of businessmen in commercial centers speak English, it will please them if you at least can greet them and say goodbye in their own language. The more knowledge you have of their national customs and forms of courtesy, the more edge you'll have on your competitors.

Have your name, title and company printed in the language of the country to be visited, on the backs of your business cards. Some of the major airlines can do this for you if they have enough time from your travel agent.

Travelers checks are negotiable almost anywhere and take only a couple of minutes for conversion into the local currency. Also prior to your departure, obtain what is called a "Tip Pack" from your local bank or request your travel agent to acquire it. This can be gotten from $10 on up and you will have that country's currency the moment you get off the plane which is a great help for cabs, baggage tips, etc.

Don't wait until the last minute to get any necessary inoculations. Some must be taken in a series and some cause a reaction and you certainly don't want to start off on a trip feeling under par.

In addition to having an up-to-date passport and any visas needed, take along a half-dozen extra passport photos. Some countries require these at entrance, and if you should decide to make an unscheduled side trip to an additional country, some require photos on their visas.

Don't plan any business meetings on your day of arrival. Give your body and eating habits a chance to catch up with the time and climate changes. The mind is not up to par for anything, let alone business. Happy travels.

Moose Plan Picnic July 27

The Antioch Moose Lodge has announced that the annual Moose picnic will be held Sunday, July 27.

Time: as soon as you can get there. Place: the Antioch Park and Aqua Center.

There will be children's and adult's games planned by Dorothy Laursen. Free pop, swimming and beer, but bring your own lunch.

Al Ballenger of the local lodge was conferred with the Fellowship Degree on July 1 at the International Moose Convention in New York City.

'Love meters' were explosive

Novelty shops in Cornwall, England, have been investigated for selling glass "love meters" containing methyl chloride or methanol. They are said to indicate the love potential of anyone holding them when the heat of the hands causes the color liquid to expand up the stem.

The investigation started after two meters exploded, slightly injuring two persons.

Bicentennial Film Can Be Borrowed

Congressman Robert McClory has a copy of the film, "City Out of Wilderness: Washington," which premiered recently at Ford's Theater in Washington, D.C. The film is now available for loan, continuing throughout the bicentennial year, 1976.

According to Mr. McClory, "The film depicts the Capitol as a living memorial to the founders of our nation and a promise to generations of Americans to come. It should have a unique impact in helping the people of our nation to comprehend the meaning, the values and the achievements of our country, and is designed to rekindle the nation's pride in its great heritage and to inspire each individual to take part in determining our nation's destiny."

In addition to making the 35-minute color film available free-of-charge to clubs, schools and other civic and community groups, Mr. McClory plans to show the film at the County Fairs to be held in the 13th Congressional District. Requests to borrow the film should be addressed to Congressman Robert McClory, 2452 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.
